Investigation Report on the Chinese Communist Party Persecuting Falun Gong by Using the Communist Youth League

Published in Chinese on Nov. 17, 2005; English translation published on Aug. 20, 2012

Chinese Communist Youth League (CCYL) is a youth organization led by the Chinese Communist Party (CCP). It is CCP's assistant and backup and consists of 3 million base branches and more than 60 million members [1]. Since July 1999 when Jiang Zemin regime started persecuting Falun Gong, the CCP has been indoctrinating lies and hatred into people's minds. The CCP incited young students who were unclear about the truth of Falun Gong to participate in the movement against Falun Gong. Its goal was to eliminate Falun Gong. Secret documents from the Party Central were sent to local governments throughout the nation.

After Jiang Zemin regime started the persecution on July 20, 1999, the CCYL Central Committee issued 2 documents, namely "Notice on Not Allowing the Youth League Members to Practice Falun Dafa" and "Notice on Implementing the Gist from Central Government: Thoroughly Carrying out Study and Education Movement among Youth League Members" initiating a fight against Falun Gong among the Youth League members [2]. In the afternoon of January 31, 2001, the CCYL Central Committee held a meeting to deploy the "Nationwide Anti-Cult Movement among Civilized Youth Communities". In the afternoon of February 1, the CCYL Central Committee sent coded telegraphic document regarding "Solution about Nationwide Anti-Cult Movement among Civilized Youth Communities" to demand all CCYL committees at provincial level to implement detailed actions no mercy [3].

A Feb. 12, 2001 report from Xinhua Beijing said that "Notice on Widely Initiating Campaigns of Refusing Cult on Campus" were sent by CCYL Central Committee and CCP Committee of Ministry of Education to all universities, colleges, high schools, middle schools and elementary schools. The schools were required to take immediate actions accordingly. The CCYL organizations and the education administration departments at all government levels cooperated with each other and initiated campaigns of "Refusing Cult on Campus" in a variety of forms.

Since Feb. 7, 2001, a series of "Refusing Cult on Campus" campaigns have been launched in Beijing to defame Falun Gong. Beijing City Communist Youth League Committee published youth reading materials, such as the "Beijing City Legal System Principals Lecture Manual: Recognizing Falun Gong," to defame Falun Gong.

On the first day of school, school principals in Beijing used the aforementioned book "Recognizing Falun Gong" as textbook to indoctrinate hatred towards Falun Gong in about 2,000 students [5].

On Feb. 12, Beijing City Communist Youth League Committee launched a campaign of "Advocating Science and Refusing Cult" in high schools and middle schools to "disclose and criticize" Falun Gong. Meanwhile, the anti-Falun Gong propaganda cards were spread. In the entire month of February, a series of anti-Falun Gong activities were held in different forms such as picture exhibition, seminar, signature, speech under the national flag, etc [6].
