Translation

Doctor: Hello.

Investigator: Hello, hi, is this Kidney Transplant?

Doctor: Yeah, who is this?

Investigator: Okay, I'm from Liaoning. My brother-in-law does his business in Wuhan. He's got sick from his kidney failure. The doctor suggested that he need a kidney transplant. I just wanted to get him registered on the waiting list.

Doctor: Because this is not the inpatient service, I suggest that you call the transplant follow-up center.

Investigator: What's the phone number?

Doctor: Uh...well...I'm not so sure either. You may call 4130, or 67814130, then you ask for the center's number.

Investigator: Ah, sure. One more question here: if we wait, in the fastest case—since your hospital is also quite famous—how long would we have to wait to get it done?

Doctor: I suggest that you call that number. You may go ask someone at the transplant follow-up center.

Investigator: Well, here's another question: can you refer an authoritative doctor to me? We're not afraid of spending a lot of money, because my brother-in-law is still very young.

Doctor: Because everyone is saying that our director Ye Qifa is such a figure, a well-known transplant expert in the country.

Investigator: Ah, ah, ah, can he do it for us? Is that possible?

Doctor: Yes, he is our director.

Investigator: Ah, Ye Qifa.

Doctor: You can do a search on Baidu.

Investigator: Yes, as I heard, as they told me at the hospital over there, Ye Qifa is very famous. But I don't know if we could get registered for an appointment with a celebrity expert like him. How much do you charge for a kidney transplant, approximately?

Doctor: You may call that number and ask.

Investigator: Oh, oh.

Doctor: This is the office.

Investigator: Ah, that's fine, okay.

Doctor: Call 4130 and ask for the phone number for the transplant follow-up center.

Investigator: Ah, well, being the expert himself, Ye Qifa's earned his big fame, because of so many cases he has done, plus his proficient skills. Am I right? How many can he do in a year?

Doctor: We in one year...we in one year can do several hundred cases.

Investigator: Ah, a few hundred cases a year. So, he is the main authoritative figure, right?

Doctor: That's right. He is our leading expert—yes, yes, yes.

Investigator: Ah, that's great. How can we reach him then...? If we're just registered for a regular appointment, if we just want to see him, can we find Ye...President Ye? Director Ye.

Doctor: Okay, you may get registered for an appointment with one of our experts, then come to Wuhan, along with his medical records or whatever so he can take a look...which are all okay.

Investigator: Ah, that means, if I bring over the patient's file first, so the doctor can take a look; Then based on his assessment, the doctor will tell me what to do next, right?

Doctor: Yeah, that would work as well. Anyways, you'll have to get registered for an appointment with one of our experts.

Investigator: Okay, another thing is, if we're admitted into your hospital, we'll have to wait for a bed or whatever. Is that necessary? Or, is there any bed shortage at your hospital?

Doctor: Well, we generally don't have such a shortage here, since we don't take on too many patients.

Investigator: Ah, you have lots of beds for your patients, right?

Doctor: Yes, yes, that's right.

Investigator: That's great.

Doctor: Generally, there are no such problems as bed shortages. None of our patients have to wait for their beds.

Investigator: Ah, with no such problems, your hospital must be a large one, right?

Doctor: Yes, we are one of the large hospitals classified as tertiary level-A.

Investigator: A large tertiary level-A hospital. What is called tertiary level-A?

Doctor: Tertiary level-A is referring to the most qualified or up to standard among all hospitals. Generally, they're only present at a provincial or municipal level.

Investigator: Ah, They're the ones that are most up to standard, with excellent technology and skills.

Doctor: Yes, yes, exactly. You can do an online search on that.

Investigator: Okay, I heard from that hospital over there that this guy, Ye Qifa, can do any transplants: kidney, liver or heart. They said that he is particularly authoritative.

Doctor: En, yes, yes, we're the ones who're specialized in transplantation.

Investigator: Ah, your hospital is the most authoritative for transplantation. That's good, thank you for giving me all the information, thank you.

Doctor: Okay, okay.

Investigator: Okay, thank you. Bye!
