Doctor: Yes.

Investigator: Hi, greetings! One of my family members wants to get a kidney transplant at your place. So how should we...?

Doctor: Make an appointment and see a doctor.

Investigator: Because I am quite far from your place. Can I first, first ask about the situation? If it's okay, then we will bring the patient over, or bring the files over?

Doctor: You need to make an appointment to see a doctor first!

Investigator: As you know, at this moment, he is hospitalized in another hospital. Somebody referred your hospital to me, saying that the wait time is short, and it can be done quickly at your hospital. If that's the case, we want to go to your hospital. If it is okay, we will transfer to your hospital.

Doctor: Our, our center does not have any inpatient vacancies for you. Too many patients are waiting here.

Investigator: Beds are in tight supply, right?

Doctor: Yes, yes, yes.

Investigator: So I want to ask, your techniques, so the techniques are not a problem, right? I mean how many operations can you do in a year?

Doctor: Well, we do 400 or 500 cases.

Investigator: Ah, 400 or 500.

Investigator: So right now, you do it every, every, every month or every week, right? Or even every day you do it, right?

Doctor: Does that concern you in any way?

Investigator: Of course it does! Who doesn't want to find a place with good skills, capable of doing a lot of cases? Doing large quantity means good techniques, which then definitely means high survival rates! So, so how can it not concern us? It certainly does, doesn't it?

Doctor: We do 400 or 500 cases per year. You can do a calculation, at least one case per day.

Investigator: Ah, that's good.

Doctor: Just make an appointment with one of our doctors, okay?

Investigator: So, so I'd like to make a request, may I ask you for a recommendation? Which doctor does the best job?

Doctor: Everyone over here can do it!

Investigator: Is that really so? As somebody told me...as he, he, he told me, Director Wang, Wang Changxi, did it for him. I am not sure if Wang still works there?

Doctor: Yes, he does!

Investigator: He does! So I can go ask him to do it?

Doctor: Yes, you can!

Investigator: Okay, that's good. Well, thank you, ah, thanks.

Doctor: You're welcome.

Investigator: Okay, good.
