Translation

Male doctor: Transplant department, how can I help you? Here is the liver transplant department, are you looking for a liver transplant doctor?

Investigator: Um, it's like this, I'm calling from Beijing. I have a relative in your Hainan area. He needs a liver transplant. I want to ask about it.

Male doctor: Well, liver transplant? Is it the liver transplant?

Investigator: Um, chronic hepatitis B, liver cirrhosis, and now ascites comes out, so liver transplant is needed, now~

Male doctor: Where is the patient?

Investigator: The patient is in Hainan, right there in Hainan.

Male doctor: The person is in Hainan, right?

Investigator: That's right, right.

Male doctor: Well, that, that, it's like this, are you available to make an appointment now, today?

Investigator: Yes, that's right. When will be a good time to come?

Male doctor: Ah, did the patient go through the blood dialysis? Or any treatment has been done?

Investigator: This...has been treated, but now some ascites come out, it has already started. If it's suitable after the examination~

Male doctor: So now you want to do a transplant, right?

Investigator: Yes, want to do a transplant, to do a liver transplant.

Male doctor: Ah, I know, in that case, do you know the blood type?

Investigator: Walking a few steps is OK, but not walking too far.

Male doctor: Ah, the physical strength has dropped, right?

Investigator: Ah, you see, if the examination result shows suitable to get an operation, how long will it take to wait here before the operation can be arranged?

Male doctor: First of all, what should be clarified first, you need to be hospitalized first, why is that? You need to be evaluated whether you can take this operation, because this operation is quite large, ah, it has some contraindications, some people cannot take it. Therefore, we must check if there are any contraindications. You can only enter the system that does organ allocation after the evaluation is OK, you know? If you are in the allocation system, because you have type B blood, you will have to wait for a period of time for this assignment, you know? Although distribution in Hainan is relatively fast, compared to the mainland, it should be relatively fast, but it still needs to wait. During this period, you must keep in touch at any time, so you need to come to our hospital. If you are free today, you can register directly. Today, Director Li Wei is on duty, so please register with our department Director Li Wei, and then let him arrange you a hospitalization, okay?

Investigator: Ah, roughly waiting time, after the assessment result shows it suitable...

Male doctor: You can only know what's going on after the assessment. You don't know what's going on now, how can you know, right?

Investigator: What is Director Liu's name?

Male doctor: Director Li Wei, surnamed Li, Muzi Li.

Investigator: Li, Weichi...

Male doctor: Director Li Wei, he is the only one at outpatient clinic in the liver transplant department today. You can go and find Director Li Wei. If you are in Hainan, generally speaking, you can wait a shorter time than in the mainland, but because you are type B, it is hard to say, understand? It depends, it depends on you, this mainly depends on you. If you are willing, it is more convenient to do it in Hainan, so I suggest you wait in Hainan, you know? Because it's not just talking about surgery, don't ever say that a transplant is just a surgery, do you understand?

Investigator: Um.

Male doctor: And the cost is something you have to think it well. Ah, however, the wait time is shorter in Hainan than in the mainland, it must be like this, you know?

Investigator: Well, if that's the case, I'll call this patient come here today, and we'll be hospitalized right away, but you still have to tell me a approximate time, I need...

Male doctor: There is no approximate time, and then, you want, you have, you have to understand from my side, ah, I don't have an approximate time. If you force me to say a time, let me tell you, from 12 hours to 1 year, it's all possible. Which one is for you? I don't know.
